M. Wilson.

McFar of the city schools, called to consider the purchase of band instruments for the Ogden high school band and the report of board member, George S. Glen, who was appointed about a week ago to look into the matter, will be heard. The Ogden high school band is being conducted by Miss Muriella Hunter, music supervisor of the city schools, and head of the department of music in the high school.

COUNTY CASE TO BE HEARD IN COURT ON DEC. 11

A demurrer in the case of J. A. Mathews against Weber county is being argued in the district court this afternoon and the case will be heard on its merits December 11.

This is the suit which involves the question of whether the county commissioners must pay a salary to the plaintiff who is a deputy county assessor.

FOURTH WARD HAS AN EVENING DEVOTED TO "LOVE"

The conjoint session at the Fourth ward last night was one of the best that has ever been given in the ward and the great subject of "Love" was spoken upon by all the speakers. The service was conducted by Fred Summerville, Jr., president of the ward Y. M. M. I. A.

There were four speakers and the first, Norma Farr, spoke on "Fraternality Love." W. H. Jensen discussed "The Elements of Love," and Ted McKay spoke of "Incidents of Love in Scriptural and Profane History." All three were summed up in a reading of Drummond's "The Greatest Thing in the World," by T. Earl Pardee. There is probably no more far-reaching or impressive book on the subject of "Love" in literature than the one read by Mr. Pardee and his interpretation of its divine lines was masterly.

In addition to the speakers, two splendid quartet numbers were sung by Messrs. William Pickett, Gerard Klomp, Joseph Tracy and Joseph Madison.

L. B. HAMMON SUES A CONSTRUCTION COMPANY

In the district court L. B. Hammon has commenced suit against the Phoenix Construction company et al. to recover $2,563.57, alleged to be due for services rendered in hauling material for the construction of the high tension line of the Utah Power & Light company from Idaho to Salt Lake.

HOME OF A. B. MALAN IS DESTROYED BY FIRE

The home of A. B. Malan, near Twenty-eighth street on Taylor avenue, was practically destroyed by fire about 10:30 this morning. The auto truck of the fire department station No. 1 made a good run, over exceptionally bad roads and saved two rooms of the house by the use of the chemical. The house was situated above the water line and for this reason the chemical was the only thing available with which to control the fire.

The house was a seven-room frame and the loss is estimated at $1500, with $600 insurance. Included in the loss was the winter supply of flour, bottled fruit and other family supplies.

What Wright's Store Offers for Christmas

This store might be likened to a Great Christmas Carnival. The management has carefully planned for the tremendous shopping of the next four weeks—planned to make every nook and corner offer its Christmas suggestion. In every department now the spirit of Christmas is in the air. Shopping is already at its height. And not the least of this store's offerings is that which enables you to select early and pay later—for the only objection we have heard to "Early Shopping" is that "we have not the ready cash." That objection is overcome by our liberal Lay-Away Plan. Select now—pay later.

NEEDLEWORK

A splendidly equipped department—filled with pleasing suggestions in needlework, with competent salesladies to aid you in planning the making. If one is adept at needlework, the department offers a world of dainty things all ready to give.—Main Floor.

HAND BAGS

There are styles in handbags just as there are styles in suits. The Christmas stock here is composed of the new styles—and more than that, every bag is of genuine leather, no matter what the price; we refuse to sell the inferior article. Just now the stocks are complete.

NECKWEAR

This season's styles of fanciful dress has created a tremendous demand for ladies' neckwear. The recent shipments to this department make this stock the best by far of any in Ogden. Dainty pieces of neckwear may be bought for 25c and from that price to as much as one wishes to pay. Later the assortment will not be so complete.

HOSIERY

There is no better suggestion for a ladies' gift than silk hosiery—and this store is the headquarters for that stock. The stocks—especially bought for Christmas—include all of the various weights and all sizes and colors. Packed in attractive boxes. Sheer cotton hosiery in boxes of three to six pairs.

HANDKERCHIEFS

You may buy here a single handkerchief for $2 or more—and for that amount one may buy a dozen dainty pieces. KIMONOS

The three days preceding Christmas last year brought many customers to the store for kimonos. Many of them were disappointed for the selling began early, in deed. This year we have prepared a greater stock, but the selling has already begun. These handsome silk kimonos make excellent gifts. Just now all sizes are here of all the different styles.

KID GLOVES

Kid gloves are among the most useable and most used of Christmas gifts. At this store you may buy the famous Perrin glove, and when you give a Perrin, the recipient knows it to be "best." One does not need to know the size, as every pair of gloves sold here may be exchanged and fitted.

CHINAWARE

Whether one wants white china for decorating or already decorated, the Basement offers the liberal assortment. Single pieces or in sets of one hundred pieces or more. China from the best makers of America, France, Belgium and England. Hundreds of pieces are being laid away now for later delivery.

SILVERWARE

The silverware which we sell most for Christmas and which we carry most completely is the famous Rogers 1847. This ware carries the manufacturers' absolute guarantee—a slip to this effect is enclosed in every package. Just now prices are said to be about half the so-called sale prices.

NOVELTIES

Meaning the little metal boxes for jewelry, the metal picture frames, hand mirrors of French ivory. Toilet requisites from the most noteworthy makers in America or France. Perfumes in especially made Christmas boxes. A very satisfying display of these goods is made on the counter just inside the Washington entrance.

CUT GLASS

There is no store in America which can offer a better quality of cut glass than that which we have secured for our customers this season. All of the newest cuttings are here—all of the purest crystal glass—all guaranteed flawless. The sale prices which are in effect now bring them to you at the cost of the ordinary kind.

TABLE LINENS

While there are some linens sold by the yard for Christmas gifts, yet the majority of gifts from this department are the linen sets which consist of dainty linen cloths with napkins to match—of various sizes and all very artistically packed in boxes which enhance the beauty of the gift. These sets may be had at a great variety of prices.

MEN'S GOODS

In the New Men's Store is the new stock of furnishings for men. You will not buy men's suits for Christmas, but there are many wanted furnishings which make acceptable gifts and of which we now have a splendid stock. Ladies who wish to buy these goods for men will find convenient shopping in our new Men's Store "just through the archway."

Santa Wants a Letter

"I am sorry, indeed," said Santa Claus before leaving Ogden Saturday, "that I did not bring more buttons—I am sorry that all did not get one." And in order to prove his good will he will give to every child which writes him a letter (in care of Wright's) one of his pretty books. "See my toy window," says Santa "tell me what you want, also your name and address, and I will give you free one of my Toy Books. You may see them in the window. Be sure to write me a letter."
